MAM-A.1 Purpose

Executive Summary

MAM-A.1.1 The CBB believes that in order to achieve the basic objectives of securities regulation of ensuring investor protection and fairness, efficiency and transparency of the market, it is essential to ensure that prices of securities are determined by the collective judgment of uninterrupted market forces of supply and demand.

MAM-A.1.2 Market manipulation, misleading behaviour or conduct, insider trading and fraudulent or deceptive behaviour or conduct may distort the price discovery system and distort prices and thereby unfairly disadvantage the investors. While the CBB Law criminalizes the offence of market manipulation, the CBB seeks to maintain investor confidence on the integrity and fairness of the Kingdom’s capital market by clearly laying down the various types of prohibited market behaviour or conduct to facilitate the understanding of the market participants in this regard.

MAM-A.1.3 The CBB’s approach is to provide a strong and facilitative regulatory framework along with an effective enforcement of regulatory requirements. While the CBB favours an open and pragmatic approach to supervision within the boundaries set by the law and the CBB’s regulations, and avoids a legalistic and confrontational style of supervision, it ensures effective enforcement of regulatory requirements.

MAM-A.1.4 The CBB seeks to clearly lay down the rules that will be applied transparently and consistently to ensure that the bona fide investors and market participants are not inconvenienced in their normal course of business, by enabling them to take all reasonable precautions and exercise due diligence to avoid their engagement in prohibited market behaviour or conduct. This is intended to drive the development and strategic positioning of the Kingdom’s capital market and lay a strong foundation for further growth.

Legal Basis

MAM-A.1.5 Article 3(4) of the Central Bank of Bahrain and Financial Institutions (CBB) Law requires the CBB to protect the interests of depositors and the customers of financial institutions, and enhance the Kingdom’s credibility as an international financial centre. Article 4(10) mandates the CBB to safeguard the legitimate interests of licensees’ customers against the risks associated with the financial services industry.

MAM-A.1.6 Article 38 (a) mandates the Governor of the CBB to issue necessary directives to ensure the implementation of the CBB Law and regulations and the achievement of the objectives of the CBB. Article 38 (b) provides the CBB with the power to issue necessary directives to ensure the implementation of CBB Laws and regulations that aim to formulate the understanding and implementation of the CBB Law.
MAM-A.1.7 Chapter 1 of Part 5 of the CBB Law (Articles 97 to 105) defines insiders, inside information and market information, prohibits abuse of inside information, and provides defences. Particularly, Article 99 provides the CBB with the power to issue regulations concerning the necessary procedures and controls of publishing market information, and Article 105 states that a person shall not be guilty of inside dealing if he proves that the dealing was completed in accordance with CBB's price policies.

MAM-A.1.8 Chapter 2 of Part 5 of the CBB Law (Articles 106 and 107) deals with violation of market dealings:

Article 106 states that: “In the application of this law a person is guilty of market manipulation if he:

(1) Is engaged, or encourages others to engage, in any conduct that may give a false or misleading impression as to the supply of or demand for, or the price or value of any securities.

(2) Is engaged, or encourages others, to engage in any conduct that may give an unrealistic picture of the market regarding the volume and prices of any securities.”

Article 107 states that: “A person shall not be guilty of market manipulation if he proves that his reasons for engaging in the alleged conduct were legitimate and that he had acted in conformity with the accepted market practices in the market concerned, or that he had acted in conformity with any price stabilization rules made by the Central Bank, or if he believed on reasonable grounds that his conduct did not violate Article 106 of this Law and that he had taken all reasonable precautions and exercised all due diligence to avoid behaving in any way against the said Article.”

MAM-A.1.9 Part 11 of the CBB Law (Articles 160 – 172) provides for penalties for various contraventions and violations of the provisions of the CBB Law:

Article 167 specifically provides penalty for the offences of abuse of inside information and states that: “Without prejudice to any greater penalty prescribed in the Penal Code or under any law, a person who contravenes Article (100) of this Law, while he is fully aware, shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months and a fine not exceeding Bahraini Dinars (10,000), or either penalty”.

Article 168 specifically provides penalty for the offence of market manipulation and states that: “Without prejudice to any greater penalty prescribed under the Penal Code or any other law, a person who contravenes Article (106) of this Law is guilty of an offence of market manipulation and shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months and a fine not exceeding Bahraini Dinars ten thousand (10,000), or either penalty”.

Having regard to (c) above, the CBB takes account in its assessment of how the relevant practice will affect market conditions, with particular reference to daily weighted average prices or daily closing prices.

MAM-1.2.2 The CBB periodically reviews accepted market practices, in particular taking into account significant changes to the relevant market environment, such as changes to trading rules or to market infrastructure.

MAM-3.1 Prohibited Market Conduct

MAM-3.1.1 Article 106 of the CBB Law states that a person is guilty of market manipulation if he engages or encourages to engage in any conduct that may give a false or misleading impression as to the supply of or demand for, or the price or value of any securities or that may give an unrealistic picture of the market regarding the volume and/or prices of any securities. MAM-3.2 False Trading and Market Rigging Transactions

MAM-3.2.1 Without prejudice to the provisions of the rule MAM-3.1.2 above, a person who:

(a) Effects, takes part in, is concerned in or carries out directly or indirectly, any transaction of purchase or sale of any securities, being a transaction that does not involve any change in the beneficial ownership of the securities;

(c) Makes or causes to be made an offer to purchase any securities at a specified price where he has made or caused to be made or proposes to make or to cause to be made, or knows that a person associated with him has made or caused to be made or proposes to make or to cause to be made, an offer to sell the same number, or substantially the same number, of securities at a price that is substantially the same as the first-mentioned price, shall be deemed to have created a false or misleading appearance of active trading in securities on a securities market.

In any proceedings against a person for a contravention of rule MAM-3.1.2 (c) and (d) because of an act referred to in rule MAM-3.2.1, it is a defence if the defendant establishes that the purpose or purposes for which he did the act was not, or did not include, the purpose of creating a false or misleading appearance of active trading in securities on a securities market.

For the purposes of rule MAM-3.1.2 (c) and (d) and rule MAM-3.2.1, a purchase or sale of securities does not involve a change in the beneficial ownership if a person who had an interest in the securities before the purchase or sale, or a person associated with the first-mentioned person in relation to those securities, has an interest in the securities after the purchase or sale.
MAM-3.2.4

In any proceedings against a person for a contravention of rule MAM-3.2.1 in relation to a purchase or sale of securities that did not involve a change in the beneficial ownership of those securities, it is a defence if the defendant establishes that the purpose or purposes for which he purchased or sold the securities was not, or did not include, the purpose of creating a false or misleading appearance with respect to the market for, or the price of, securities.

The reference in rule MAM-3.2.1 to a transaction of purchase or sale of securities includes:
(a) A reference to the making of an offer to purchase or sell securities; and
(b) A reference to the making of an invitation, however expressed, that expressly or impliedly invites a person to offer to purchase or sell securities.

(d) By recording or storing in, or by means of, any mechanical, electronic or other device information that he knows to be false or misleading in a material particular; induce or attempt to induce another person to deal in securities.

In any proceeding against a person for a contravention of rule MAM-3.3.1 constituted by recording or storing information as mentioned in rule MAM-3.3.1 (d), it is a defence if it is established that, at the time when the defendant so recorded or stored the information, he had no reasonable grounds for expecting that the information would be available to another person.

In any proceedings against a person for a contravention of rule MAM-3.3.1, the opinion of any registered or public accountant as to the financial position of any company at any time or during any period in respect of which he has made an audit or examination of the affairs of the company according to recognised audit practice shall be admissible, for any party to the proceedings, as evidence of the financial position of the company at any time or during that period, notwithstanding that the opinion is based in whole or in part on book-entries, documents or vouchers or on written or verbal statements by other persons.

(a) The person, or a person associated with the person, has entered into or purports to enter into any such transaction or has done or purports to do any such act or thing; or

(b) The person, or a person associated with the person, has received, or expects to receive, directly or indirectly, any consideration or benefit for circulating or disseminating, or authorising or being concerned in the circulation or dissemination, the statement or information.
MAM-3.5 False or Misleading Statements

MAM-3.5.1 Without prejudice to the provisions of rule MAM-3.1.2 (e) and (f), no person shall make a statement, or disseminate information, that is false or misleading in a material particular and is likely:

(a) To induce other persons to subscribe for securities;

(b) He knows or ought reasonably to have known that the statement or information is false or misleading in a material particular.
MAM-3.6 Price Manipulation

MAM-3.6.1 Without prejudice to the provisions of rule MAM-3.1.2, no person shall effect, take part in, be concerned in or carry out, directly or indirectly, two or more transactions in securities, being transactions that have, or are likely to have, the effect of raising, lowering, maintaining or fixing the price of securities on a securities market, with intent to induce other persons to subscribe for, purchase or sell securities of the company or of a related company.

MAM-3.6.2 A reference to rule MAM-3.6.1 (a) or (b) to transactions in securities includes:
(a) A reference to the making of an offer to purchase or sell such securities; and
(b) A reference to the making of an invitation, however expressed, that directly or indirectly invites a person to offer to purchase or sell such securities.
MAM-3.7 Continuous Disclosure

This rule shall apply to:

(a) An entity the securities of which are listed for quotation on a licensed exchange;
(b) A trustee of a business trust, where the securities of the business trust are listed for quotation on a securities exchange; or

The persons specified in rule MAM-3.7.1 shall not intentionally, recklessly or negligently fail to notify the licensed exchange of such information, as is required to be disclosed by the licensed exchange under the listing rules or any other requirement of the licensed exchange.

A contravention of rule MAM-3.7.2 shall not be an offence unless the failure to notify is intentional or reckless.

(c) Manipulate or fraudulently secure a minimum subscription of any offering or issue of securities, either by accepting a subscription in contravention of the Anti-Money Laundering (AML) and Combating Financial Crime (CFC) Laws and regulations, or by accepting incomplete subscription forms or otherwise.

(d) Make a reference to the CBB’s or any other authority’s approval for the purpose of marketing of or obtaining subscription for any offering or issue of securities, or give a misleading appearance that such an approval or no-objection relates to financial soundness of any project or merits of any offering or issue of securities.
MAM: Prohibition of Market Abuse and Manipulation

MAM-3: Prohibited Market Conduct

MAM-3.9  Prohibited Conduct – Futures Contract and Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading

False Trading – Futures Contracts and Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading

Without prejudice to section MAM-3.1, no person shall create, or do anything that is intended or likely to create, a false or misleading appearance of active trading in any futures contract on a futures market or in connection with leveraged foreign exchange trading, or a false or misleading appearance with respect to the market for, or the prices of futures contracts on a futures market or foreign exchange, in connection with leveraged foreign exchange trading.

Bucketing

Without prejudice to section MAM-3.1 no person shall:

(b) Knowingly execute, or hold himself out as having executed, an order to make a purchase or sale of foreign exchange in connection with leveraged foreign exchange trading, without having effected a bona fide purchase or sale in accordance with the order.

Manipulation of Price of Futures Contract and Cornering

(b) By any dishonest concealment of material facts;

(c) By the reckless making or publishing of any statement, promise or forecast that is false, misleading or deceptive; or

(d) By recording or storing in, or by means of hard copy or any mechanical, electronic or other device information that he knows to be false or misleading in a material particular; induce or attempt to induce another person to trade in a futures contract or engage in leveraged foreign exchange trading.

In any proceedings against a person for a contravention of rule MAM-3.9.4, constituted by recording or storing information as mentioned in rule MAM-3.9.4 (d), it is a defence if it is established that, at the time when the defendant so recorded or stored the information, he had no reasonable grounds for expecting that the information would be available to another person.

Employment of Fraudulent or Deceptive Devices and Practices

Without prejudice to section MAM-3.1 no person shall directly or indirectly, in connection with any transaction involving trading in a futures contract or leveraged foreign exchange trading:

(a) Employ any device, scheme or artifice to defraud;
(b) Engage in any act, practice or course of business which operates as a fraud or deception, or is likely to operate as a fraud or deception, upon any person;
(c) Make any false statement of a material fact; or
(d) Omit to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading.

Dissemination of Information about Illegal Transactions

Without prejudice to section MAM-3.1 no person shall circulate, disseminate, or authorise or be concerned in the circulation of dissemination of, any statement or information to the effect that the price of a class of futures contracts or foreign exchange in connection with leveraged foreign exchange trading will, or is likely to, rise or fall or be maintained because of the market operations of one or more persons which, to his knowledge, are conducted in contravention of section MAM-3.1 if:

(a) The person, or a person associated with the person, has conducted such market operations; or
(b) The person, or a person associated with the person, has received, or expects to receive, directly or indirectly, any consideration or benefit for circulating or disseminating or authorising or being concerned in the circulation or dissemination, the statement or information.
MAM-3.10 Methods of Market Abuse and Manipulation

MAM-3.10.1 A person who engages or encourages others to engage in market manipulation by his acts of commission or omission will be liable for penalties under the CBB Law, irrespective of the methods used for market manipulation. Methods of market abuse and market manipulation may include but not be limited to the methods mentioned in rules MAM-3.8.2 to MAM-3.8.38.

(a) Abuse of information:

Insider Dealing

MAM-3.10.2 Frontrunning: Frontrunning (or trading ahead) occurs when a broker times the purchase or sale of shares of a security for his own account so as to benefit from the price movement that follows execution of large customer orders. Frontrunning involves a trader taking a position in a security to profit from advance non-public knowledge of an imminent order that may affect the market price of that security.

MAM-3.10.3 Tailgating: When a broker or adviser buys or sells a security for an informed client(s) and then immediately makes the same transaction in his or her own account.

MAM-3.10.4 Spreading False Information to Purchase at Bargain Prices: An unlawful practice occurring mainly on the internet. A small group of informed people attempt to push down a stock by spreading false information and rumours. If they are successful, they can purchase the stock at bargain prices.

Improper Disclosure

MAM-3.10.5 Concealing Ownership: This is a transaction or a series of transactions which is designed to conceal the ownership of a security via the breach of disclosure requirements through the holding of the instrument in the name of a colluding party (or parties). The disclosures are misleading in respect of the true underlying holding of the instrument. (This practice does not cover cases where there are legitimate reasons for securities to be held in the name of a party other than the beneficial owner; e.g. nominee holdings. Nor do all failures to make a required disclosure necessarily constitute market manipulation.)

MAM-3.10.6 Touting: The practice refers to any person who is paid directly or indirectly, to recommend the sale of any security, without disclosing this fact and the amount of compensation to be received. Once someone is paid to recommend a security, this information should be provided to the market. Touting is also an unlawful practice in the securities market, since it does not follow the principle of full disclosure to the market and gives an unfair advantage to some investors over others.
MAM: Prohibition of Market Abuse and Manipulation

Chapter MAM-3: Prohibited Market Conduct

Misuse of Information

MAM-3.10.7 Pump and Dump: This practice involves taking a long position in a security and then undertaking further buying activity and/or disseminating misleading positive information about the security with a view to increasing the price of the security. Other market participants are misled by the resulting effect on price and are attracted into purchasing the security. The manipulator then sells out at the inflated price. Pump and dump is a scheme that attempts to boost the price of a stock through brokers recommendations, internet forums, or cold calling based on false, misleading or greatly exaggerated statements, and the perpetrators of this scheme, who already have an established position in the company's stock, sell their positions after the hype has led to a higher share price.

MAM-3.10.8 Trash and Cash: Trash and cash (or “slur and slurp”) is the opposite of pump and dump. A party will take a short position in a security; undertake further selling activity and/or spread misleading negative information about the security with the purpose of driving down its price. The manipulator then closes their position after the price has fallen.

MAM-3.10.9 Influencing Market Price without Controlling the Available Supply or Demand: An individual may not control the supply of a security or the asset underlying a derivative contract, but may use various other means to manipulate the price, such as disseminating false information about the relevant company or taking advantage of a congested market. False information about the company or the derivative or cash market, which influences the price of the company's shares or of the asset underlying a derivative contract may be disseminated in publicly filed financial statements, press releases, or through some other medium.

MAM-3.10.10 Boiler Room Sales: Boiler rooms use banks of telephones to make cold calls to as many potential investors as possible using high-pressure selling techniques to persuade investors to purchase “house stocks”- stocks that the firm buys or sells as a market maker or has in its inventory. Boiler room operators typically sell worthless shares or thinly traded stocks of “microcap” or “small cap” companies.

MAM-3.10.11 Cybersmear: Cybersmear is a practice in which individuals post malicious messages about businesses in online forums, to manipulate the stock or to hurt a company they have a grievance against.

MAM-3.10.12 Scalping: Scalping is the fraudulent trading practice that occurs when a person buys shares of thinly-traded, small-cap companies, recommending the companies to the general public, and then selling the majority of his shares when the increased demand generated by his favourable recommendations drove up the stock price.

MAM-3.10.13 False Market: A market where prices are manipulated and impacted by erroneous information, preventing the efficient negotiation of prices. These types of markets will often be marred by volatile swings because the true value of the market is clouded by the misinformation.
MAM-3.10.14 Short and Distort (Bear Raid): An unlawful practice employed by unethical investors who short-sell a stock and then spread unsubstantiated rumours and other kinds of unverified bad news in an attempt to drive down the equity’s price and realize a profit.

MAM-3.10.15 Long and Distort: An unlawful practice employed by unethical investors who buy a stock and then spread unsubstantiated rumours and other kinds of unverified good news in an attempt to drive up the equity’s price and realize a profit.

MAM-3.10.16 Stock Basher: An individual, either acting alone or on behalf of someone else, who attempts to devalue a stock by spreading false or exaggerated claims against a public company. After the stock’s price has dropped, the basher, or the basher’s employer, will then purchase the stock at a lower price than that he or she believes it is intrinsically worth.

(b) Market Manipulation:

Manipulating Transactions

MAM-3.10.17 Painting the Tape: This practice involves engaging in a transaction or series of transactions which are shown on a public display facility to give the impression of activity or price movement in a security. This may include an unlawful practice in which traders buy and sell a specific security among themselves, creating the illusion of high trading volume and significant investor interest, which can attract unsuspecting investors who might then buy the stock and enable the traders to profit. Or, an unlawful action by a group of market manipulators buying and/or selling a security among themselves to create artificial trading activity, which, when reported on the ticker tape, lures in unsuspecting investors as they perceive an unusual volume.

MAM-3.10.18 Wash Sales: This is the practice of entering into arrangements for the sale or purchase of a security where there is no change in beneficial interests or market risk, or where the transfer of beneficial interest or market risk is only between parties who are acting in concert or collusion. (Repo transactions and stock lending/borrowing or other transactions involving transfer of securities as collateral do not constitute wash trades.) Wash sales include an unlawful transaction a trader makes by simultaneously buying and selling a security through two different brokers, thereby creating the illusion of activity. The trader sometimes would use a relative to conclude such manipulative transactions.

MAM-3.10.19 Improper Matched Orders: Transactions where both buy and sell orders are usually entered at the same time, with the exact same price and quantity by different but colluding parties.
MAM-3.10.20 Marking the Close: Marking the close (or ramping) involves deliberately buying or selling securities or derivatives contracts at the close of the market in an effort to alter the closing price of the security or derivatives contract. This practice may take place on any individual trading day but is particularly associated with dates such as future/option expiry dates or quarterly/annual portfolio or index reference/valuation points.

MAM-3.10.21 Cornering the Market: Securing such control of the bid or demand-side of both the derivative and the underlying asset that leads to a dominant position. This position can be exploited to manipulate the price of the derivative and/or the asset. With regards to derivatives, in a corner, a market participant or group of participants accumulates a controlling position in an asset in the cash, derivative and other markets. The market participant or group of participants then requires those holding short positions to settle their obligations under the terms of their contracts, either by making delivery or by purchasing the asset from the manipulator or by offsetting in the derivatives market opposite the manipulator at prices distorted by the manipulators.

In the context of a futures contract and leveraged foreign trading corners or attempts to corner, any commodity which is the subject of a futures contract.

MAM-3.10.22 Abusive Squeeze: This involves a party or parties with a significant influence over the supply of, or demand for, or delivery mechanisms for a security and/or the underlying product of a derivative contract exploiting a dominant position in order materially to distort the price at which others have to deliver, take delivery or defer delivery of the security/product in order to satisfy their obligations.

MAM-3.10.23 Capping and Pegging: This practice involves activity on both the stock market and the derivatives market. A trader writes an option, which obliges the trader to sell to (in the case of a call option) or buy from (in the case of a put option) the option holder a specified number of shares covered by the option in order to affect the share price in a direction that will make the option unprofitable to exercise.

MAM-3.10.24 Manipulative Naked Short Sales: A short sale is generally the sale of a stock the seller does not own. In a “naked” short sale, the seller does not borrow or arrange to borrow the securities in time to make delivery to the buyer within the standard settlement period. As a result, the seller fails to deliver securities to the buyer when delivery is due. Selling stock short and failing to deliver shares at the time of settlement with the purpose of driving down the security’s price is a manipulative activity.

MAM-3.10.25 Pooling and Churning: “Pooling and Churning” can involve wash sales or pre-arranged trades executed in order to give an impression of active trading, and therefore investor interest in the stock.
MAM-3.10.26 Interpositioning: Interpositioning involves a 2-step process that allows the brokerage firm to generate a profit for the brokerage firm from the spread between two opposite trades. Interpositioning can take various forms. In one form, the broker purchases stock for the brokerage firm’s proprietary account from the customer sell order; and then fills the customer buy order by selling from the brokerage firm’s proprietary account at a higher price – thus locking in a riskless profit for the brokerage firm’s proprietary account. A second form of interpositioning involves the broker selling stock into the customer buy order, and then filling the customer sell order by buying for the brokerage firm’s proprietary account at a lower price – again, locking in a riskless profit for the brokerage firm’s proprietary account. In both forms of interpositioning, the broker participates on both sides of the trade, thereby capturing the spread between the purchase and sale prices, disadvantaging at least one of the parties to the transaction.

MAM-3.10.27 Late Trading: This involves purchasing mutual fund shares at the closing price after the market closes. This is an investment technique involving short-term “in and out” trading of mutual fund shares, which has a detrimental effect on the long-term shareholders. The technique is designed to exploit market inefficiencies when the “net asset value” of the mutual fund shares; which is set at the market close, does not reflect the current market value of the stocks held by the mutual fund. When a “market timer” buys mutual fund shares at the stale NAV, it realizes a profit when it sells those shares the next trading day or thereafter. That profit dilutes the value of shares held by long term investors. Late Trading (or market timing) includes: (a) frequent buying and selling of shares of the same mutual fund; or (b) buying or selling mutual fund shares in order to exploit inefficiencies in mutual fund pricing. Market timing, while not illegal per se, can harm other mutual fund shareholders because it can dilute the value of their shares, if the market timer is exploiting pricing inefficiencies, or disrupt the management of the mutual funds’ investment portfolio and can cause the targeted mutual fund to incur costs borne by other shareholders to accommodate frequent buying and selling of shares by the market timer.

MAM-3.10.28 Holding the Market: The practice of placing active or pending orders for a security into a market where the price is dropping rapidly in an attempt to “hold” the price of the security steady, or create a floor in the security. This practice is unlawful except when a broker or other party is mandated to keep the price of a security steady as part of Price Stabilization or a buy-back programme. This is only done in rare cases where there is not enough market depth to hold the price.

MAM-3.10.29 Ghosting: An unlawful practice whereby two or more market makers or brokers collectively attempt to influence and change the price of a stock. Ghosting is used to affect stock prices so the manipulators can profit from the price movement.

MAM-3.10.30 Freeriding: An unlawful practice in which an underwriting syndicate member withholds part of a new securities issue and later sells it at a higher price. This practice involves the unlawful activity of buying a stock and selling it before paying for the purchase.
MAM-3.10.31 Bucketing: A brokerage that makes trades on a client’s behalf and promises a certain price and/or confirms execution of an order to a client without actually executing it. The brokerage however, waits until a different price arises and then makes the trade, keeping the difference as profit in an attempt to make a short-term profit.

MAM-3.10.32 Portfolio Pumping: The unlawful act of bidding up the value of a fund’s holdings right before the end of a quarter, when the fund’s performance is measured. This is done by placing a large number of orders on existing holdings, which drives up the value of the securities within the Portfolio.

Manipulating Devices

MAM-3.10.33 Advancing the Bid: Increasing the bid for a security to increase its price artificially, creating the impression of strength or the illusion that stock activity was causing the increase.

MAM-3.10.34 Placing Orders without Intention to Execute: This involves the entering of orders, especially into electronic trading systems, which are higher/lower than the previous bid/offer. The intention is not to execute the order but to give a misleading impression that there is demand for or supply of the security at that price. The orders are then withdrawn from the market before they are executed. (A variant on this type of market manipulation is to place a small order to move the bid/offer price of the security and being prepared for that order to be executed if it cannot be withdrawn in time.) These manipulative orders are entered in the pre-open sessions and also during the normal trading sessions.

MAM-3.10.35 Excessive Bid-ask Spreads: This conduct is carried out by intermediaries which have market power, such as specialists or market makers acting in cooperation, in such a way intentionally to move the bid-ask spread to and/or to maintain it at artificial levels and far from fair values, by abusing their market power, i.e. the absence of other competitors.

Misleading Behaviour and Distortion

MAM-3.10.36 Short and Extort: This practice occurs when short sellers state, for example posting messages on message boards, they would stop shorting the stock if they were given money or free shares.

MAM-3.10.37 Spoofing: Spoofing (or small lot bailing) is a fraudulent trading practice that occurs when a person uses a displayed limit order to manipulate prices, entering quotes followed by virtually simultaneous cancellations, obtaining an improper trading advantage. The order is placed with the intention of briefly triggering a market movement from which the participant or others may benefit by trading the opposite side of the original manipulative order.

MAM-3.10.38 Overtrading: An unethical practice employed by some brokers to increase their commissions by excessively trading in a client’s account. It is also referred to as “churn and burn”, “twisting” and “churning”.

MAM: Prohibition of Market Abuse and Manipulation Module
April 2009
Section: MAM-3.10: Page 6 of 6
MAM-3.11 Motives and Parties Involved in Market Manipulation

MAM-3.11.1 Any manipulative behaviour or conduct prohibited under this Module will attract a penalty specified in Article 106 of the CBB Law and other enforcement actions by the CBB, irrespective of the objective of such manipulative market behaviour or conduct.

However, the CBB would investigate into the intentions behind the market behaviour or conduct and the objectives of the market behaviour or conduct of the various parties while dealing with suspected market behaviour or conduct cases.

(a) Some examples of such motives include:
   (i) Influencing the price or value of a security or a derivative contract, so that the manipulator can:
       - Buy at a lower price;
       - Sell at a higher price;
       - Influence takeover bids, or other large transactions; or
       - Combat competitive transactions;
   (ii) Influencing the price of a derivative contract or the underlying asset;
   (iii) Influencing the subscription price in public or non-public offerings;
   (iv) Influencing the price/conversion ratio in connection with the merger of companies;
   (v) Influencing the price of a security in connection with take-over offers;
   (vi) Influencing someone to subscribe for, purchase, or sell assets or rights to assets, or to abstain from doing so;
   (vii) Influencing the accounts/balance sheet of institutional investors;
   (viii) Influencing the limit for triggering forced sale by creditors; and
   (ix) Influencing the impression of financial advice or placements.

(b) Any person who violates, or aides or abets any violation of the provisions of this Module will be liable for penalty and other enforcement actions under the CBB Law, irrespective of the status or position of the person involved. Those in a position to effect a manipulation include:
   (i) Issuers of securities;
   (ii) Participants in the securities market, derivatives market or underlying cash market, including investors and institutions;
   (iii) Market intermediaries;
   (iv) Financial analysts;
   (v) Any other person;
   (vi) Any combination of the above acting in cooperation with one another; and
   (vii) Any person aiding or abetting the person(s) involved in prohibited behaviour or conduct.
MAM-3.12  Error Trades

MAM-3.12.1  Every licensed exchange and market operator should have policies and systems for error trades which should be transparent and applied consistently and fairly, so that the brokerage firms and their representatives are made accountable for providing correct information with regards to the investor's and transaction details at the time of entering the orders into the trading systems of the licensed exchanges or market operators.

MAM-3.12.2  All transaction information after execution in the Automated Trading System of licensed exchanges must not be changed except when there is a misallocation of the Investor Account. Such change can only be made subject to the prior approval of the licensed exchange and any change after the settlement period can be made only after obtaining the CBB's Capital Markets Supervision Directorate’s written approval.

MAM-3.12.3  A repeated pattern of error trades could be indicative of possible manipulation or other abuse market activity and the licensed exchanges should have adequate systems in place to detect such activities and report to the CBB.

MAM-3.12.4  If there is an error trade which is caused by mistake or lapse on the part of a brokerage firm, the cost for correcting such error trade shall be borne by the respective brokerage firm.
MAM-3.13 Defences

A person shall not be guilty of violation of section MAM-3.1 if he proves that his reasons for engaging in the alleged behaviour or conduct were legitimate and that he had acted in conformity with the accepted market practices in the market concerned, or that he had acted in conformity with any price stabilization rules or market making rules made/approved by the Central Bank, or if he believed on reasonable grounds that his behaviour or conduct did not violate Article 106 of the CBB Law, and that he had taken all reasonable precautions and exercised all due diligence to avoid behaving in any way against the said Article.
